465 Bronte Rd, Bronte,

A New York magazine guide rated this among Sydney's top five seafood joints – a big call, but Swell's up for it. For those of us who'll take buzzy Bronte over try-hard Bondi any day, it hits the spot. And it's open all day, whether you're after a sea breeze with your eggs Benedict or a nifty lunch of salt and pepper squid with tamari and chilli. For dinner, Daud Kendall rolls out his big guns: panfried goat's cheese gnocchi with vegies, a crispy salmon with piperade and crab-stuffed zucchini, sirloin with chips and cafe de Paris butter. What a swell party this is. Entree $16 (tasting for two $32), main $28, dessert $12, six-course degustation (winter only) $75.
